

FLOOD THREATENING ILLINOIS AND INDIANA CITIES

VAST ARMY TO GUARD BORDER
IS CONSIDERED

Realignment Of Prohibition Agents Problem For Congress

By WALTER CHAMBLIN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Steps necessary to muster a miniature army to patrol one of the longest boundaries any nation ever has attempted to guard claimed the attention today of the House Immigration committee as it moved to carry out the Hoover prohibition enforcement reorganization program.

Taking the lead, Chairman Johnson summoned Commissioner Hull of the Immigration Bureau and other officials of the Labor Department for questioning.

Meanwhile, the prohibition situation held the intense interest of many members of the House and Senate and committee chairmen arranged to assemble their committees for consideration of the proposals.

In the House, a group of "wet" members returned to their discussion of the question. In recent years there has been an unofficial committee in the House known as that favoring modification. It has been only more or less active but some members of the committee have advocated that a particular phase of the prohibition issue be singled out and every effort made to obtain a roll call vote. Those of this thought contend that considerably more than a hundred votes could be mustered in support of such a move.

Drys Not Worried

It is admitted by many quarters at the Capitol that such a record vote in the House would be of paramount interest. House dries have never shown concern over such an issue. Their answer has been let the "wets" arrange for the ballot and "we will supply the votes."

In the Senate today discussion continued informally over the constitutionality of the proposal to turn petty offenders over for trial by United States Commissioners. Chairman Norris of the Senate Judiciary committee is one of those wondering if this would not violate the constitutional guarantee of trial by jury.

Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, a dry leader, is sponsor of the proposition.

A bill designed to accomplish the same end was before the House Judiciary committee today, having been introduced yesterday by Representative McKeown, Democrat, Oklahoma.

For New Border Patrol

The session of the House Immigration committee was watched with interest. While this committee has jurisdiction over immigration measures, the House Commerce committee has control over legislation affecting the Coast Guard. The two committees probably must work together in drafting legislation to create the new border patrol force, as Secretary Mellon has recommended that this be placed under the supervision of the Coast Guard, which like the Army and Navy is a military arm of the government.

The Williamson bill to authorize the transfer of the prohibition unit from the Treasury to the Justice Department will be taken up next week by the House Expenditures committee. Next Tuesday the Senate Judiciary committee will discuss in a preliminary way all of the reorganization program.

Meanwhile, members have refrained from discussing in either chamber the phases of the proposed re-alignment. Some interest has been aroused over who will be the first to speak and what he will have to say.

YOUTH ADMITS

ROBBERY WHEN

TAKEN TUESDAY

Harold Selover, 17,

Married, Confessed

To Theft

Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber and Officers Bohmstiel and Seagren made fast work of a reported house robbery yesterday afternoon and in the police dragnet which was thrown out about the city, soon captured a suspect who was taken to the police station for questioning, and admitted the act. Fred Griser, 920 University Place reported to the police that he discovered that his home had been entered yesterday morning about 11 o'clock and a bill fold containing $40 was removed from a coat belonging to Norman Griser. Entrance apparently had been gained by the use of a skeleton key. Griser or none of the neighbors had observed any strangers about the house.

Harold Selover, 17, and married, was arrested yesterday afternoon and is reported to have made a full confession of his guilt and admitted the single-handed robbery of the money from the Griser home. In his confession he admitted having used a key to gain entrance to the Griser home.

When placed under arrest in a downtown pool room, he had $34 of the money in his possession which he turned over to Chief Van Bibber after confessing his guilt.

According to the police, Selover has figured prominently in former escapades. A charge of larceny was preferred before Justice William Terrill and in default of bond in the sum of $500, Selover was sent to the county jail, his case having been continued until this afternoon.

Senator Wright

Visited In Dixon

Senator Harry G. Wright, who for several years has so ably represented this district in the state senate, was a Dixon visitor yesterday. He came on a friendly visit and managed to call upon a few friends, but was limited in this regard by his physical condition.

Senator Wright's recent automobile accident and operation were a severe test on his health and, while he is recovering splendidly, he is still far from being his robust, normal self, and it was this situation that compelled him to give up his ambition to be state treasurer, as a state wide campaign would have been too great a physical strain. His friends over the district are urging him to become a candidate to succeed himself as state senator, pointing out that such a campaign would not be at all strenuous and that the voters of the district would like to retain him in the senate, where he is such a powerful influence.

No Disposition Of

George Clark's Body

No disposition of the remains of George H. Clark, who passed away at the Dixon public hospital Monday afternoon had been made today. Clark had been employed on farms in the vicinity of Dixon for the past four years and was quite well known. He came to Dixon from Maryland and had no relatives in this locality. It is expected that the body will be sent to Maryland for interment.

Illinois Industrial Commission.

Kramer, who is the International Secretary-Treasurer of the Brotherhood of Blacksmiths & Drop Forgers, was appointed to the commission in September, 1929.

In resigning from the industrial board, Kramer declared that the volume of union business prevented him from giving adequate time to his duties as a commissioner.

TRIAL DATE SET.

William McReynolds of this city was taken before Judge Harry Edwards in the circuit court this morning and Monday, Jan. 27, was the date set for his trial on an indictment charging assault with a deadly weapon. McReynolds is alleged in the indictment to have attacked Clarence Shults, night attendant at the Newman Brothers Riverview garage about 3 o'clock in the morning of Dec. 8, and to have beaten him over the head with a three-pound sledge hammer. He was also indicted for the robbery of the Claude Horton garage on the same night, preceding the assault.

Some testimony was taken and the case was continued until Thursday.

Coast Guard Held Right In Killings

Providence, R. I., Jan. 15.—(UP)—The crew of the Coast Guard patrol boat CG-280 was not responsible for the Black Duck rum killings, so far as the Providence county grand jury is concerned.

After 17 witnesses, including Charles R. Travers of Fairhaven, Mass., Captain and sole survivor of the rum-runner Black Duck, had testified, the jury last night arrived at a verdict of "no bill." This ended investigation of the killing of the three members of the Black Duck's crew by machine gun fire in an encounter with the CG-280 at the mouth of Narragansett Bay December 29.

Panther At Large In Capital City

Washington, Jan. 15.—(UP)—Washington's big game hunters went hunting again today for the "dog-eating panther," still at large preying on poodles and other small pets.

Arthur Green, Negro, informed police he had killed the "panther ghost" in a tree last night, but it turned out to be a bob-cat whose tracks were smaller than the panther's.

Those who doubted Mrs. Fannie Walker, Negro, who told police the "panther" attacked her Monday night and devoured her small poodle dog, were convinced yesterday when other reports found their way to police headquarters.

Cold Winds Sweep Out Of Northland

Chicago, Jan. 15.—(AP)—North winds whistled an unseasonal mildness into a wintry blast today.

FRENCH CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. SHAW—

French Club No. 2, is meeting today with Mrs. George B. Shaw in Bluff Park.

K. T. Ball Brilliant and Successful; Attendance Record Breaker

The annual grand ball given by the Dixon Commandery No. 21 at the new Masonic Temple last night, exceeded the most sanguine expectations. The guests began to arrive as early as 7 P. M. evidently anxious to see the entire program which was reviewed by the ranking Mason in this district, Past Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery of Illinois, Sir Knight Glen Frank Cox, assisted by the past commanders of Dixon Commandery including Sir Knights Mark C. Keller, Amos Hall Bosworth, Leonard G. Adams, Charles Fowler, Robert Warner and McKinney, Past Commander of Sterling Commandery.

The program was opened by a beautifully executed drill by a special drill team of about twenty-four members of the "Battalion." They formed crosses and triangles and other formations but the most interesting was a cross during which the Sir Knights kneel down and deposit their chapau with the beautiful white plumes on the floor in the form of a cross and then arise and march to the foot of the cross and salute, returning to the original formation and replacing their chapau.

They received great and well deserved applause. The drum and bugle corps led by their drum major, Sir Knight Edward J. Cox, then marched onto the floor, the drummers beating the regular 120 cadence. The drum major cleverly formed them into a circle and they played the drum and bugle solo, from Semper Fidelis, which has become one of the favorite solos for all military bands. They responded to a hearty applause with an encore and then with that same snappy thrilling music, marched off. The next number was a review of the entire Battalion. This Battalion was organized by past commander, Sir Knight Z. W. Moss, and has continued ever since its term of office. This is the only city of less than 50,000 population to have an entire Battalion of Knights Templar for drilling and the members are to be congratulated for their faithful work. Their drill was roundly applauded and then the ladies of the White Shrine drill team with their three color bearers sixteen members of the team and their drill-master Lloyd Lewis marched on the floor dressed in their beautiful white and gold uniforms to music furnished by Mrs. Lee Reed. This team showed the result of many hours of patient drilling, for their work is perfect. They formed so many intricate formations that it is impossible to describe them all. After each of their special formations they received enthusiastic applause and compliments were showered upon them throughout the evening. They have exhibited their drill in nearly every large city in northern Illinois and in Milwaukee and are making plans to compete at the national meet at Columbus, O., during the spring. The members of the team and their drill-master and musician deserve a great deal of praise for their fine work.

The big event of the evening is always the Grand March. This was led by the Commander, Sir Knight Edwin M. Bunnell and his comely wife, followed by the regular officers and their ladies and the visiting officers and their ladies and the balance of the Sir Knights in full uniform with their ladies. This was a most beautiful sight. The Sir Knights in their black uniforms with the medals they have won by their work at various Knight Templar affairs and carrying their swords, their beautiful white plumes waving and their ladies dressed in their wonderful evening gowns of many attractive colors made the grand march a most colorful spectacle. The leaders formed the lines first into a formation in which an arch of steel was formed with their swords under which the ladies passed. This is a favorite military formation at all such functions. They then led the march into a surprise formation for an immense cross was formed and most of the participants did not realize until they were signaled to halt that they had executed such a formation. The entire audience of over 200 couples entered into the spirit of the party with much enthusiasm. It was announced that only one encore would be played but repeatedly the orchestra would play some exceptionally enticing number and the dancers just would not be denied another encore. The orchestra received many expressions of praise during the evening.

The party was attended by an exceptionally large number of out of town guests and during the evening the dancers repeatedly exclaimed: "this is the finest party ever held in Dixon; why can't we have more of them?" The committee promised that another enjoyable ball will be given within the next two or three weeks and many friends who did not receive invitations this time will be included in the next party.

The various committees who assisted in making this affair such a grand success have received much praise and thanks from the guests. The hall was beautifully decorated, the predominating feature of the decorations being the red crosses, symbolic of Knight Templarism. Refreshments came in for exceptionally enthusiastic praise and the supply which was calculated to last the entire evening was exhausted by midnight.

Following the grand march, a card party in the parlors was announced for those who did not dance. This was conducted by Mrs. Lew Franks and was very largely attended. The first ladies prize was won by Mrs. William W. Woolley and the ladies' consolation prize by Mrs. Howard Beam. The first gentlemen's prize was won by Sir Knight Herman Rasch and the gentlemen's consolation prize by Sir Knight Charles Fowler, P. C.

The Commander, Sir Edwin M. Bunnell and his very efficient wife received an endless amount of congratulations for this was a fitting climax of his year as commander and this party will give the succeeding commanders something to do to equal it when their turn comes.

The party continued until 1 o'clock and it was a very tired but exceedingly happy crowd who wended their way home.

The drill team of Corinthian Chapter, White Shrine of Jerusalem, who performed were: Mrs. Lew Franks, manager; Drill Master, Lloyd Lewis; Mrs. Nell Gearhart, Mrs. Mildred Page Beier, Mrs. Lela Bush, Miss Helen Edwards, Miss Bernice Wilhelm, Mrs. Carrie Cox, Mrs. Mazie Hoberg, Mrs. Pearl Rickard, Mrs. Lloyd Lewis, Mrs. Lew Murphy, Mrs. Kittle Ballou, Miss Esther Young, Miss Olive Reed, Mrs. Mamie Segner, Mrs. Lee Reed, Musician.

Ruth McCormick Laughs at Obstacles On Political Tour

Lawrenceville, Ill., Jan. 15.—(UP)—Ruth Hanna McCormick, Illinois congresswoman-at-large, laughs at obstacles when she is on a political campaign.

Arriving here today where she delivered a speech in support of her candidacy for the Republican United States Senatorial nomination. Members of her party were dismayed to learn that a row boat or swimming suits would be necessary to get the candidate to Olney where she was scheduled to talk this afternoon. The road between Olney and Newton she learned, was under water.

But the political daughter of the late Senator Mark Hanna and widow of the late Senator Medill McCormick was not daunted.

"Get a railroad hand car and we'll make the trip on that," she said.

Mrs. McCormick speeded up her campaign, which will have taken her into nineteen counties by the end of this week, today. Heretofore she has been making speeches in three towns a day. Today she increased it to four towns a day and plans to maintain that pace tomorrow and Friday.

In addition to her speech here this morning Mrs. McCormick was scheduled to talk at Olney, Newton and Effingham in that order today.

Her address here was a reiteration of those made yesterday and Monday, except that she placed greater emphasis on her opposition to the League of Nations.

She declared it is one of the big issues of her campaign to unseat her opponent, United States Senator Charles S. Deneen, though so far she has not mentioned his name. Deneen is the man who eliminated her husband in the Republican primaries of 1924.

She also discussed sex discrimination in politics and again asserted she does not want votes because she is a woman.

Mrs. McCormick tells her listeners she wants votes, "not men's votes and women's votes—just votes."

She says "hello" to an occasional woman's club but makes no scheduled talks to women's meetings.

The first woman to conduct an active campaign for a United States Senate seat is standing the tour like a veteran.

She rises after seven every morning, breakfasts and rides 20 to 40 miles to her first speaking engagement of the day, then on to another town for lunch, followed by an address, another ride, another speech, then dinner and the last talk of the day.

Battle Of Long Skirts Is Waged

BY PRINCESS ALI FAZIL

United Press Staff Correspondent

Paris, Jan. 15.—(UP)—Despite the efforts of well-meaning style pacifists to effect a compromise, the War of the Skirts is still on.

The hardest blow struck so far against the determined band of Paris dressmakers, entrenched in the rue de la Paix in face of the whole world, is the refusal of American women to buy long dresses. If the Paris dressmaking field-marshal is ever hard hit, it will be through their bank accounts.

French women have rather meekly accepted the dictates of the rue de la Paix, and the theater floors at the Opera and elsewhere have never been swept so shiny as since trailing skirts came back into fashion this winter. Spain too, listened peacefully and Spanish women cavort around in fluffy ankle-length skirts.

But American and British women took up the fight and for once in history they may make the Paris creators change their minds. In fact, if the battle goes on long enough the Anglo-Saxon sisters may break Paris' dominance in style matters.

The Paris creators realize that well enough and it is possible that they may change their tactics. They may be content for one year with a partial victory, long skirts for the evening and short skirts for the rest of the day.

From all over America, the trade is sending in warning signals. San Francisco dealers admit that long skirts have their favorites there, but Chicago, Denver and Salt Lake City report that long skirts are almost impossible to sell, and that the women there still insist upon the freedom of the knees.

Business Girls Told to Relax

BY BESS FURMAN.

Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Listen, business girls! Here's advice on how to do bigger and better work: learn to loaf like a man with your feet on the desk.

So says Dr. Olga Stastny of Omaha, Neb., official physician to America's organized business and professional women.

"Loaf life a man," she says. "Women will never have achieved emancipation until they can relax, at ease, with their feet higher than their heads."

"An hour or so of rest, with feet up—complete relaxation," is her professional prescription. "A chance for the heart to be relieved of pumping all the time in erect posture. Less pressure on those veins that too often become varicose."

"Less general loginess. And, yes, less thick ankles. The upward stretch will exercise the ankle muscles."

Dr. Stastny does not welcome the new long and clinging skirts which would hamper the feet-on-the-desk movement.

"The dregs of the last few years has been ideal," she says.

"No corsets to cramp, no waist line to draw in. Exposure of arms and legs to the ultra-violet rays of the sun—all have tended to keep moderns in pretty good trim. With a few more vitamins to add Greek curves instead of that flat silhouette, we would have a glorious race."

The Pajamas Ran Away With Show

BY FRANCES PAGET

Written for the United Press

New York, Jan. 15.—(UP)—Women have become pajama-minded. There is no doubt of it.

On the eve of the Paris openings, the garment retailers of America staged their annual spring style show at the Hotel Astor last night. It settled the argument not only in favor of pajamas for lounging and beach wear, but put the stamp of approval on the foot length, or longer skirt. There were even trains on some of the skirts. They were the only acknowledgement that the approved skirt had to be short in front and long in back.

Between the stunning wide-legged pajamas and the equally stunning evening gowns, the afternoon frocks appeared rather tame. They were at least devoid of sensational features. Skirts cleared the floor by a generous margin of twelve to 14 inches and waistlines were no higher than consistent with the laws of Nature.

To have read so far about current styles and not to have encountered the word ensemble seems hardly possible. It is excusable because of the impression pajamas created—they ran away with the show.

However, the ensemble continues to score heavily, although for evening wear there was a market preference for the all white gown topped by a shorter coat, of brilliant scarlet, capucine, blue or some such vivid hue.

HAPPY HOUR
THE SOFT snow is still falling, falling.
From the soft gray sky.
The wide lawn
And the broad park
Alike are carpeted in white velvet.
Winter's "effects" in gray, black, and white!
The big evergreen
Near the copper-barked apple tree
Is fretted out in white moss.
I sit and ply my unaccustomed needle;
While clearly to my Colorado ears
Comes, via present-day miracle,
A Haydn symphony from far New York.

Vacation in Bermuda Won as First Prize

Mrs. Norman Watts, sister of C. H. Sargent, who is manager of the local Spurgeon store, and who lived at the Sargeant home while in Dixon a year or so ago, made many friends while here who will be happy to learn of a delightful vacation which she is at present enjoying in summer-like Bermuda, as a reward for industry and brilliant salesmanship for a concern in the east. Mrs. Watts, in a contest sponsored by the publishing house in Germantown, Pa., by which she is employed, won first place in salesmanship, selling more copies of the book, "The Children's Journey Through Wonderland," than any other saleswoman or man. She is therefore enjoying her winter vacation with much enthusiasm, and will also go to Atlanta, Georgia, one of the fashionable and interesting cities of the southland, before returning to her home in the snowbound east.

Practical Club Held Meeting

The Practical Club met Jan. 14th at the home of Mrs. D. G. Palmer with a very good attendance. It was the first meeting after the holidays and was a pleasure to be together again. A report was given by the committee on Christmas work and also a report was given on the club party held at the home of Mrs. Bills, Dec. 12th, with Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Marth, Mrs. Bills and Mrs. Powell as hostesses.

Mrs. Melott gave a very interesting paper on "Moving Picture Industry." She stated that it was twenty-five years since the silent pictures were first introduced and that the "Talkies" were only two years old and not yet perfected.
Roll call was answered with favorite movie stars.
Very delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Dorothy Chapter Served Banquet

The members of Dorothy Chapter, O. E. S., served a banquet at noon yesterday at the Masonic Temple to the members of the Insurance Casualty Co. of Freeport, serving over a hundred at this time. The guests praised the cuisine and service highly.

Old Fashioned Sleighride Enjoyed

"Jingle bells, jingle bells, jingle all the way," was one of the songs so happily caroled by the twenty-seven members of the Wartburg League of the Immanuel Lutheran church last evening on their old-fashioned sleigh ride. The party enjoyed visits to the Henry Jacobs home and to the Scheffler home and finally circled around to Dixon again and stopped at the home of Miss Dorothy Wachtel in town where delicious refreshments were served to the cold but happy company. People who now-a-days ride in closed cars find a "bobble" much more airy than automobile rides, but lots more fun. At a late hour, the happy group sought their homes singing "Jingle Bells," and other old favorites, after a most enjoyable ride.

Beauty Measurements Are Argued

Paris—(UP)—A controversy over the adoption of the Venus de Milo as the standard of measurement in international beauty contests, has widened a breach between Galveston and Atlantic City, and the rest of the world, and the national beauties of Europe will migrate this year to Rio de Janeiro to match their pulchritude.

Galveston still holds out for the Venus de Milo, who is visibly overfed and overweight, particularly around the hips and the ankles. France wants a modernized version of the Venus de Medici, slimmer than her sister, and Brazil, like most of South America, prefers the type of Diana.

Successful Bunco Party Enjoyed Last Evening

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and their Auxiliary held a most successful bunco party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, Jr. last evening. After several games of bunco, delicious refreshments were served. At bunco Mrs. Howard Wheeler won ladies high prize; Mrs. Duette Pentland won consolation. Clarence Busser won gentleman's high and Albert Ruggles won the consolation. Everyone attending reports a very good time.

Silver Wedding Happily Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. O'Hare of 1002 N. Hennepin avenue were happily surprised by a group of relatives and friends on Sunday who arrived to help them celebrate their twenty-fifth, or silver wedding anniversary.

A happy day was enjoyed by all and at 2 o'clock a tempting three-course dinner was served. The daintily appointed table was decorated in pink and white, and the center of the table was graced with a delicious pink and white anniversary cake. While dinner was being served Ernest Norden presented the host and hostess with a purse of silver in a neat speech conveying the best wishes and congratulations of all present.

The afternoon and evening were spent in playing bunco, other games and in enjoying music. Darlene Dogwiler entertained with a toe ball and several songs. The cut-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Norden, daughter Mildred and son, Earnest, of Ohio; Mrs. A. P. Shearburn, Mr. and Mrs. George Norden and daughter, Alice, of Walnut; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Knapp, daughter Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Dogwiler and daughter, Darlene, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Smith, daughter, Rose Ann, and son, Leslie, of Dixon.

from four to six inches below the knee.

The consensus was that a certain latitude of personal preference was permitted in the skirt length rather than any hard and fast fashion ruling, but no models shown had knee-length skirts.

The natural waistline and the molded silhouette were features of the dresses for all occasions.

Spring colors exhibited featured prints and plain colored fabrics, lively but not riotous. The plain colors seemed to predominate. Black backgrounds prevailed in the printed frocks for street and sports wear and the black and white was frequently repeated in both afternoon and evening dresses.

WHY WOMEN TAKE JOBS.

If you still cling to the old maxim that woman's place is in the home, you might read over the recent bulletin from the United States Women's Bureau.

This bulletin reveals that women in increasing numbers are being called on to support their families.

Out of 30,000 families investigated, for instance, 27 per cent were supported entirely by the wages of their women members.

Of 17,000 unmarried women studied, one in five was supporting a family unaided.

An enormous proportion of city families is depending wholly or in part on the money earned by wives and daughters. In certain industries which employ women, 65 per cent of the women workers are married.

Evidently the woman who marries for economic security stands a fair chance of getting badly stung. Instead of being freed from the necessity of supporting herself, she may have to pitch in and help support, not only herself but her husband as well.

It would seem that there are several things back of this recent influx of women into the realm of jobs. It isn't, apparently, the outgrowth of a sudden desire, on the part of womankind, for freedom. The marriage-or-career stories written by our popular fiction producers—how idiotic they sound, now that the real facts are coming out! Most working women, one concludes, are working because they have to, not because they want to. The modern world is giving them, not a new freedom, but a new duty.

Stuart Chase, in his recent book, "Prosperity: Fact or Myth," sheds a bit of light on the subject.

One out of every 13 male wage-earners in the United States, he estimates, is always out of a job. The "technological unemployment" that our engineers talk about—the replacement of workers by labor-saving machinery—is giving us an army of jobless men that averages around 3,000,000.

Yet we have had no breadlines, no unrest, no nation-wide exhibit of suffering, despite the fact that we are continually harboring this enormous number of men who cannot get work. Why? Well, Mr. Chase suspects that the woman worker has a good bit to do with it. Many and many a family in which the breadwinner has lost his job has been saved from starvation by the fact that the breadwinner's wife has gone to work as a salesgirl or telephone operator.

COOLIDGE AND SMITH.

The recent announcement of the manner in which the $6,000,000 estate of the late Conrad Hubert is to be divided among various charitable organizations brings to a close an episode that has made extremely pleasant reading.

Former President Calvin Coolidge and former Governor Alfred E. Smith were two of the committee of three named to settle on the method of dividing the estate. For a number of months they worked together; and there was something very refreshing about the manner in which these two distinguished men—utterly unlike one another in birth, breeding and outlook—pitched in together to perform a public service.

Calvin Coolidge and Al Smith—a strange pair to work in harness together, surely! It was pleasant to read about their joint activities, pleasant to speculate on the contrast which their presence on the same committee kept emphasizing. We are sorry that their work has been brought to a close.

A Los Angeles artist, sued by a film star for $180,000 breach of promise, says the girl dropped into his lap like a ripe peach. He probably is ready to agree by this time that what appears to be a peach occasionally turns out to be a lemon.

A Chicago man refused to speak at a banquet because he had nothing to wear. Some day somebody is going to refuse to speak because he has nothing to say—and the millenium will have arrived.

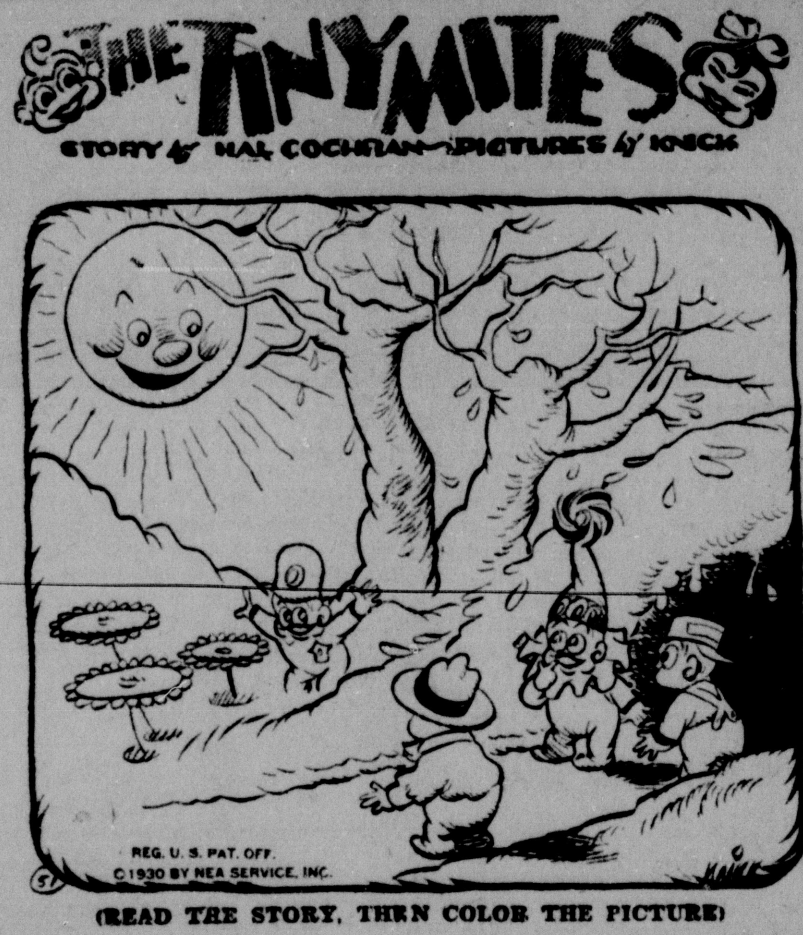

If you're fashionable you usually manage to have a slight coryza instead of a light cold. It's more ritzy by several dollars.

Somebody told your old man today that the opera he attended last night was sung in English. Some people know just everything.

Does anybody remember way back when women used to carry parasols to keep from getting sunburned?

The snow house was a beauty and the Tinymites all thought it grand. They got down on their hands and knees and quickly crawled inside.

"Oh, this is big enough for all and I just hope the roof won't fall," said Clowney. "Won't this snow house make a dandy place to hide?"

"You bet it will," another snapped. "The next time that our band is trapped we'll quickly sneak inside of here and all will be all right. I thought 'twould be real dark but gee, it's just as light as it can be. I'll bet it is the snowwhite snow that makes the inside light."

They rested for an hour or so. Then Clowney calmly said, "Hum ho! I'm getting rather sleepy and my eyes seem full of sand. Let's cuddle down and sleep a while." This plan was greeted with a smile. It wasn't long until the bunch were in slumberland.

The night time came and also went.

And in those hours the Tinymites spent a worth-while spell at snoozing in their little home-built place. All of a sudden Carpy woke and shouted "Say! Is this a joke? If I am not mistaken, water's dripping in my face."

At that wee Scouty rushed outside. The others followed, as he cried, "Our snow house is much softer and it's melting slow, but sure. We all did the best we could and really thought the house was good. But, now that it is melting down, I guess 'twas rather poor."

A voice then came out of the sky. It was the sun and it said, "I am melting up your snow house 'cause I thought 'twas what you'd like. The other snow I'm melting, too. It is a real smart thing to do, 'cause when I get through melting you can once more ride your bike."

(A big tree topples down in the next story.)

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

FIRST U. S. LOCOMOTIVE

On Jan. 15, 1831, the first locomotive built in America, the "Best Friend", appeared on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

The locomotive was built at the West Point foundry at New York City and was designed by Adam Hall.

The "Best Friend" had a vertical tubular boiler carried at one end of a horizontal platform or frame, while the cylinders were carried at the other end, and the four wheels occupied the space between the boiler and the cylinders.

The West Point foundry built a second locomotive, the "De Witt Clinton," in 1831, which was put at work on the Mohawk & Hudson railroad, now a part of the New York Central & Hudson River railroad.

This second engine was very similar in design to the first, but possessed a number of improvements.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

BY EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

WILLIAM TUDOR GARDINER, GOVERNOR OF MAINE, SAYS:

That it is not only a privilege but a duty to make use of the ballot. Part of the foundation scheme of our government is partly government, and the call to vote for a candidate for public office should be heeded by every man and woman of voting age.

The success of the enterprise fostered by our Constitution can be insured only as the spirit of the Constitution is reflected in the hearts and in the actions of the individuals who are component parts of the government.

If one watches a pair of draft horses he can readily tell if either animal is laying back in the harness. The carrying on of a democracy is a similar affair, multiplied many millions of time. If one lays back in the harness among so many millions it may not be noticed, but who is the one entitled to such great consideration as to have permission not to pull his share? The man or woman who thinks he or she has this right must be a colossal egotist. It would be a right that comparatively few could have, if the purposes expressed in the preamble of the Constitution were to be carried out.

Our representative government has set up a system of checks and balances, but a sufficient number of votes in certain places over a period of time could turn liberty into slavery, turn justice into despotism, turn common welfare into common sorrow. This great power of the ballot is vested in the individual. The common exercise of that power is necessary for the orderly maintenance of government. The power to vote is the power to build or to destroy. To have the right to vote and to refuse to exercise it is to fail in duty.

No one can tell which cubic foot of water flowing down a river is the one that turns the wheels of industry. It is the whole stream flow that does the work. No one can say the individual's share in public affairs is small. TO THE GREAT ALL THINGS ARE GREAT. TO THE SMALL ALL THINGS ARE SMALL.

Liberated Former Official Greeted

Herrin, Ill., Jan. 14—(AP)—Greeted by some forty or fifty friends at Carbondale when he alighted from a train, Elmer McCormack, former Herrin officer, was home today after serving a sentence for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law at Leavenworth Federal prison. Several other Herrin men, including officials, were convicted with McCormack nearly a year ago.

After greeting McCormack at Carbondale a motor caravan escorted him to his home here.

Elmer McCormack's brother, former mayor Marshall D. McCormack, still has ten months to serve, while Police Chief John Stamm will be released in five months.

Relief for an hour—OR NEW STOMACH HEALTH

Thousands of stomach sufferers, former habitual users of makeshift remedies, such as acids, sugarcats, tablets, and the like, have found in ZINSEP Compound not mere transient relief, but actual new stomach health.

The reason for this is, that ZINSEP Compound is a corrective, not just a digestant or temporary aid, like most remedies. It is a complete stomach treatment, possessing all the qualities of an Antacid, Gas Eliminant, Stomachic, Carminative, Laxative, and the like. That's why physicians prescribe it and druggists recommend it.

ZINSEP Compound corrects the condition that causes the trouble, and thus gives Nature a chance to restore normal health to your stomach. You can't obtain this benefit from common digestive aids—they just don't work that way.

A faithful course of ZINSEP Compound will prove a surprise to you in permanent stomach relief. Just try it. Your money back if it fails to benefit you.

POET'S CORNER

THE SECTION MAN

Then, Ho! for the section man, working away
With shovel and pick or a maul;
Who steadily strives at his task every day
And seldom is noticed at all.

His work is important, though some people think
It amounteth to little or naught;
And laugh when their heavy shoes clinkety clink,
Or tawny apparel is bought.

But those who so willfully banter and jeer
The fellow who bendeth his back,
Should think for a moment and then shout a cheer
For he who serves man on the track.

Each tiny raindrop plays its part in the shower;
The sunlight is made up of beams;
The section man's duty and labor each hour
Is part of the industry schemes.

Steadfastly he strives at laborious tasks
Of tamping the track for the trains;
His wants, although many, for little he asks
To ease his financial pain.

Is laying new steel or in placing new ties,
In mowing or burning the weeds,
In fixing the fences—why, he always vies
With the one who surely succeeds.

The millionaire rides in his grand special car,
Enjoying repose at his will;
While "riding the rods" or the "bumpers" which jar,
The life of a bum gets its thrill.

O'er pathways of steel ride the haughty and meek,
The potent and powerless, too;
And no matter where there is something you seek
The railroad will bring it to you.

But nobody thinks of the quiet personage
Who keepeth the track in repair,
By "jointing" and "lining" and test-the gauge,
And spiking the rails here and there.

Nobody thinks much when he doeth his bit;
No credit nor fame his reward;
No praises are sung just for his benefit;
No glory will be his award.

Still, nobly he labors and serveth all well,
In sunshine, or shadow, or storm;
The summer sun sends its fierce rays to repel;
The winter winds shaketh his form.

To you, faithful worker, or honor deprived,
May everyone learn to observe

With the Cagers

Chicago, Jan. 15—(AP)—Already wobbling from two defeats—so many as it suffered during the whole of last year's Western Conference basketball campaign, Michigan has suffered another blow.

Joe Downing, regular guard, who scored two field goals against Purdue, was declared out of action for at least three weeks, because of an injury suffered in the Illinois game Monday night. Downing fell during the first two minutes of the contest, receiving a severe injury to his right knee.

Illinois and Wisconsin are working at top speed for their contest at Madison Saturday night. Wisconsin's short-passing offense blossomed out in great style against Ohio State, while the Illinois defense, over which Coach Ruby has worked all season, functioned well enough to throttle Michigan. With improvement in offensive play, the Illini are hopeful of remaining undefeated.

Northwestern and Indiana which meet at Bloomington in the other Saturday night game, also are busy. Indiana came to life against hitting as they did against the Maroons, expects to hand the Wildcats their second conference defeat. Northwestern is being drilled on a man-to-man defense, its zone defense having crumbled before Purdue Monday night.

OUTSIDER WON GOLF TOURNEY ON WEST COAST

Densmore Shute, an Ohio Golfer, Surprises Golf Experts

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Los Angeles, Jan. 15—(AP)—Densmore Shute, who boasts of only two years in the ranks of the professionals, today took his place among the nation's golf champions as new crowned king of the Los Angeles $10,000 open golf tournament.

The 24-year-old Ohtoon yesterday trudged from the final rain-soaked green of the fifth renewal of the 72-hole big money classic with the $3,500 first place money added to his store of worldly goods. Almost flawless play under the most trying conditions, which left his closest competitors four strokes behind, turned the trick.

A consistent, steady game, which saw the young Columbus exponent of the great Scottish pastime cling close to par 71 figures despite the heavy going in drenching rains and wind flurries, enabled Shute to carve out a 73-74-75-74 record for the four rounds—a 290 total.

Next came Horton Smith, pride of the Missouri Ozarks, the "wee" Bobby Cruickshank of the Atlantic seaboard, tied with scores of 300 in fourth place finished the veteran El Espinosa, Chicago, seven strokes behind the leader with 303, while Tommy Armour, Detroit, placed fifth with 305.

To Shute the victory was something of a revenge, for it was Horton Smith who last year crowded him out of the championship class in a close finish at the Fort Meyer, Fla., open.

Far behind the new wizard of the fairways were Leo Diegel, National P. G. A. champion, with his 306; MacDonald Smith, twice winner of the Los Angeles open in the last two years, who shot 308; Johnny Farrell, former open champion, with 310; Johnny Golden, Joe Kirkwood, Harry Cooper, and other veteran stylists of the links.

Nineteen entrants, including Walter Hagen and "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, abandoned play in disgust as the mixture of rain, snow and storms time again swept the course.

The golfing parade will next halt at La Jolla, Cal., where a $1,800, 18-hole event will take place Saturday as an appetizer to the Agua Caliente tourney, which opens a four-day stand Monday.

Nurses needing record sheets will find them at the B. F. Shaw Printing Co.

Shires Gets Fat On Old Raspberry

Philadelphia, Jan. 15—(Arthur (The Great) Shires, ball player, fighter and speechmaker, gets fat on "the raspberry" handed him by fight fans. At a dinner of the Philadelphia Sports Writers Association last night he said:

"I know that in most of my fights the majority of the people pay their money to see me licked. I don't mind that. When I walked down the aisle to the ring in Boston to fight Spohrer the other night the raspberry they handed me was music to my ears."

"I get fat on that sort of thing. In Chicago when I lost to Trafton I was given a great hooking. But the next day I walked down to the Illinois Boxing Commission and they handed me $3,000."

"The ring was the only means to an end for me. I needed money, saw a way to make it and went after it. I've been in trouble with the boxing commissions of several states. But I want to say that in baseball I give everything I have, and when I'm in the ring I'm in there trying. I'll get in the ring with anybody who is as green about it as myself."

ZACHARY TOPS JUNIOR LEAGUE IN YEAR'S WORK

"Lefty" Grove Ranks as Second Among The Box Artists

New York, Jan. 15—(UP)—Twelve years after he broke in with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1918 under the alias of Zach Worton, Tom Zachary, New York Yankees' veteran southpaw, finds himself the leading pitcher of the American League for 1929 in both percentage of games won and in the lowest average of earned runs per game. In only three other years had Zachary been able to win more than half his games.

The official American League pitching average credit Zachary with twelve victories and no defeats and an earned run average of 2.47 for nine-inning games. He won 12 straight games.

Lefty Grove of Philadelphia was second in games won and lost with a record of 20 victories and six defeats in 275 innings distributed through 42 games of which 21 were complete. He also was second in earned runs with an average of 2.82 per game.

Ed Rommel of the Athletics with an earned run average of 2.84 was the only other American League pitcher who held opponents to less than three earned runs per game. Rommel was employed mostly as a relief hurler, winning 12 games and losing 2.

Sam Gray of the Browns won 305 innings and 23 of his 43 games were complete. Al Thomas of the White Sox pitched 24 complete games out of 36 and was sixth in earned runs. He pitched nine consecutive complete games.

There were no hitless games, by George Walberg of Philadelphia, by Faber of Chicago, and Ed Wells and George Figras of New York each pitched one one-hit game.

Ted Lyons pitched a 21-inning game on May 24 against Detroit, the longest game of the season. In the game Uhl pitched 20 innings.

Conger Will Meet Finn Star Tonight

New York, Jan. 15—(AP)—R. Conger, who makes a specialty of beating runners from other lands, will have a chance to add Eino Purk of Finland to his list of victims tonight.

Conger and Purk are to meet a 1500 meters run at the Pastime. C. Conger finished third in his first start this season ten days ago. He ran the half mile on that occasion and was under-trained. It would be more effective at the long distance. Willie Ritola of the Finnish-American A. C., is to run in two mile event.

India's "Independence" is Hailed by Demonstration

"We are now in open conspiracy to free India!" Here is the stirring scene as thousands of native Indian students massed in a public square at Lahore, cheered revolutionary speakers who declared for open revolt against British dominion. Banners were flaunted denouncing British rule and urging allegiance to Indian leaders. Soon afterward India was declared "a free and independent nation" by the Indian National Congress, meeting in Lahore, which adopted the Declaration of Independence formulated by Mahatma Ghandi, famed rebel chieftain and advocate of "passive resistance."

A. F. American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars are invited to attend.

Mrs. Lavina McHenry, 85, died at the Lincoln Hospital Saturday at 3:30 P. M. death resulting from the infirmities of age and paralysis. Lavina was born in Cayuga county, N. Y. on July 14, 1844, and moved to Chicago with her parents in 1845 where they resided several months before locating at Geneva, N. Y. in 1850. The family moved to Rochelle. The Sitterly family were pioneer farmers here, living on a farm now occupied by Peter Udeson one mile north of Rochelle. Mrs. McHenry attended school in Rochelle in a log cabin just across Kite Creek near the site of the Thomas Southworth residence.

On July 26, 1865 she was united in marriage to James S. McHenry, who preceded her in death in 1907. To this union two sons, Bruce W. of San Diego, Cal., and Mayor W. E. Henry of Rochelle, were born, both of whom survive, together with two brothers, Emory Sitterly of Oklahoma, 89, and Mark Sitterly, 83, of Des Moines.

The deceased was perhaps the oldest resident of Rochelle, residing in this vicinity for 80 years during which time she witnessed the growth of the city from a straggling village of Lane to the thriving industrial center of 4000 population.

The first half of the school year in Rochelle's graded public schools will end Friday, Jan. 24. Report cards covering the work of the third period will be handed out Jan. 31. School authorities advise that parents should study the report cards carefully and take an inventory of their child's school work. Where children are doing a poor or failing grade of work, notices will be sent out from office. Parents are then advised to arrange a conference with the teacher at their earliest convenience.

Measles, chickenpox and whooping cough are becoming quite prevalent in Rochelle and community and the health and school authorities are enlisting the cooperation of the parents. Any child with a cold should be watched very closely for evidence of a communicable disease. The school nurse suggests that approximately two-thirds of these diseases begin with supposedly a common cold, headache and sore throat. There also seems to be some cases of scabies (itch) in the schools and these children are being excluded from school, together with those suffering from the form of infection until it is under control.

Mrs. H. R. Lissack was a substitute teacher at Central school Monday. C. W. Bowers, treasurer of the Farmers Telephone Co., Franklin Grove, has been able to resume work following complete recovery from an operation for removal of two goiters at the Lincoln Hospital here.

An essay contest open to students of the Junior High School with prizes of $5.00, $3.00 and $2.00 is being sponsored by the Peoples Loan and Trust Company Bank of this city. The essay, not to exceed 500 words, must be handed in by Feb. 22. The subject for the competition is the picture of Washington taking the oath of office as the first President of the United States. Calendars having prints of this picture painted by Hintermeister, have been distributed throughout the various rooms and from these students can get the material for their essay.

The Junior High School will give a cantata under the direction of Mrs. Orva Wright, Music Supervisor of the Rochelle graded schools. The cantata entitled "The First Flag" will be given some time in February the date to be announced later.

HOT DOG MAYOR WANTS DALLAS FOR COMMONERS

Public Parks Opened to Spooners; Barbs Off City Hall Fences

By THOMAS C. CLUCK (United Press Staff Correspondent) Dallas, Texas.—(UP)—Mayor J. Waddy Tate would make Dallas a mecca for the plain people, hewers of wood and drawers of water.

Wearers of the soup and fish run second in his official derby. His heart beats in sympathy with that under the blue shirt, and to the tongue versed in lore of the laboring classes he lends the most attentive ear.

Since he swept into the office of chief executive of Dallas on a "hot dog platform" some nine months ago he has exerted a powerful influence toward his ideal.

"I'm for anything that suits the plain people, and whatever will help them is going over in this town if I have my say," he declared.

Tate's note of democracy rings out in the Highland Park annexation controversy, ranging about an elite suburban district.

"If it can come in just as any other section, it is welcome. But if it expects special favors for its aristocracy—stay out," Tate vehemently asserted.

How well the hot dog platform has been adhered to since it carried Tate to the mayoralty is attested by the following of his many "blue shirt" precedent-breakers:

Holding an inaugural ball—"First time a mayor in the United States did it. I guess, and nobody but a few from Highland Park crashed the gate," he declared.

Ordering removal of spikes from railings around the city hall—"So the people to whom the hall belongs can sit on them and rest."

Selling the snakes in the zoological gardens and substituting donkeys for the kiddies to ride—"While sections of the rich are riding their Shetland ponies."

Revoking the order closing city parks at 10 P. M.—"The parks belong to the people, and they can use them at any hour. Lovers are going to spoon somewhere, and if they park on the side of the road without lights, another car will hit them and kill somebody."

Ordering "free days" at city swimming pools during the summer—"So the plain people can get their Saturday night bath."

Having city hall flag lowered to half mast for deceased dog catcher and thereby setting a precedent—"He was a good one, and we expressed our regret at his death."

Ordering all married women employed by the city discharged, to meet opposition from commissioners and be foiled—"Give the ones who need the work a chance. What's a husband for if not to support his wife?"

YANKS' CHANCES OF WINNING IN BRITAIN GOOD

Golf Experts Look For Victories For America

BY DIXON STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent) New York, Jan. 15—(UP)—With the naming of the American Walker Cup team and the announcement that Joyce Wethered will not defend her British women's championship, the United States' prospects of annexing all of England's major golf trophies in 1930 appear brighter than ever before.

While the professionals will not be as large in number as in 1929, when the Ryder Cup team visited England, the United States probably will send to Europe the biggest squad in the history of international golf.

The Walker Cup team, composed of Capt. Bobby Jones, seven other sterling golfers and two alternates will be the most powerful unit. In addition Walter Hagen will defend the British open championship which he has won twice in succession and four times since 1922. Horton Smith, Leo Diegel, Gene Sarazen, Bobby Cruickshank and one or two other pros will be on hand to give Hagen support and competition.

Glenna Collett, four-time winner of the American women's golf championship, will head the feminine invasion, and may be accompanied by Mrs. H. W. Pressler, Maureen Orcutt and other stars.

The women's championship is the only British "go" title which has evaded American competitors in previous years. Last season Glenna Collett played the greatest golf of her career but was forced to bow to Joyce Wethered. With Miss Wethered out of competition it looks easy for the American girls.

With Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen, who between them have won the British open six times in the past eight years, heading the list of American entrants, there is every reason to believe that the open title again will be won by an American player.

American players have had less success in the British amateur—Jerry Travis, a naturalized citizen, and Jesse Sweetser being the only Americans to capture the championship—but with the Walker Cup team on the grounds, the likelihood of the cup being brought to America in 1930 is pronounced.

KAVATONE PUTS RHEUMATICS ON THEIR FEET

Wonderful Effect of Kavatone that Actually Enable the Helpless to Go Back to Work.

Rheumatic sufferers are certainly going wild with joy at the discovery of Kavatone Herb Remedy. For the first time they have found something they can absolutely depend upon to rid them of the pain of Rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, or neuritis. Kavatone works like a charm fast and powerful, but harmless even to children. No alcohol, no opiates or other narcotics. By all means make a trial of this remarkable remedy that gets the helpless out of bed.

"Kavatone surely proved a god-send to me and I can thank it alone for restoring my health." is the grateful statement given to the Kavatone man by Mrs. Leon Perry, who resides on Route 5, Kalamazoo, Mich., who has been troubled with stomach trouble and rheumatism for the past 10 years.

MRS. LEON PERRY. "I know I owe my good health to this medicine and without it, now a family remedy at my house, I was the first one to use it as I was and had been suffering for years with stomach trouble, rheumatism, neuritis and a general rundown condition, seemed like everything was wrong and nothing gave me any relief to speak of. My food, instead of digesting, would lay in the stomach to sour and ferment, gas formed and caused sharp shooting pains around the heart. At times my stomach would swell and burn like it was on fire, then I was troubled with rheumatism and neuritis in my shoulders, legs and arms. This constant pain naturally upset my nerves and when night came I simply could not sleep. I heard so much about Kavatone Herb Tonic, that I made up my mind to give it a trial. The results were even greater than I expected, and today I feel better in every way than I have for years. My stomach no longer causes me any trouble. I eat better than I have for a long time, no more trouble from gas or indigestion, and the rheumatic and neuritis pains are gone. I was also troubled with headaches and they, too, have been removed. I have found this medicine to be fine for constipation, and everyone in the family now uses this medicine with good results. "Yes, it is worth the praise I can give it and is one medicine I feel safe in recommending to everyone." This great medicine is made from Mother's Nature herbs. The Kavatone man is at The Ford Hopkins Co., where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. The famous Kavatone figure (an ingenious human torso showing every organ of the body) is used in this demonstration and everyone is cordially invited to see and study this figure an experience which will be interesting and instructive.

LOCAL RADIO EXPERT GIVES FINE ADDRESS

Howard Hall Speaks To Kiwanians At Their Weekly Lunch

International broadcasting is a radio feature of the very near future, Howard Hall, radiotriple of this city, told members of the Dixon Kiwanis club yesterday afternoon, but television is not an immediate prospect and will require the reduction in the present number of stations and a simplifying of the entire radio system. In his talk before the Kiwanians, Mr. Hall outlined and brought to the attention, many of the developments and possibilities of radio, in a most interesting manner.

One of the first broadcasting stations was built ten years ago at Pittsburgh as an experiment. In 1924 there were more than 1,100 radio broadcasting stations in the United States and at the present time the number has been decreased to about 650 with reception power from 1,500 to 2,000 miles. Radio in its rapid growth has become essential in navigation on the seas and is at present being established in aviation, the speaker said.

Air mail pilots receive their directions through a series of radio stations which have been established, one of these being recently opened at the Sterling municipal airport. Pilots wearing headphones keep their courses through a signal system of dots and dashes. All passenger carrying vessels and many of the large freighters on the oceans are required to carry radio operators and equipment.

For the entertainment of owners of receiving sets, one chain system spent six million dollars last year for talent, Mr. Hall told his listeners. This year the amount is to be increased to sixty-five millions, which is paid for by advertisers. In a recent experiment on a one hour chain program, England, France and United States talent participated without interruption.

In the United States, radio has become self supporting through the chain broadcasting systems. In England radio has been placed in the postoffice department of the government, while in other countries, owners of receiving sets are taxed to pay for the entertainment broadcast.

More than 300 radio engineers are engaged at the present time in working out a system of international broadcasting, which at present has proven very costly. The speaker ventured his opinion that international broadcasting would feature the 1930 development in radio. Aside from this, he stated that there was no radical change in prospect in the construction of radio receiving units, other than the development of tone and reception qualities and the elimination of static.

"That there are profits in the ownership of grazing lands is indicated in the reports," Secretary Wilbur said.

D. C. Babbitt, Arizona Land Commissioner, reported his office collected $302,556 for rentals and leases of surface rights of lands during last year.

Raymond Miller, of the Colorado Land Commission, reported receipts of $642,024; I. H. Nash, Idaho Land Commissioner, reported receipts of $189,752; L. M. Brandford, Montana Land Commissioner, reported revenues of $423,000 and C. V. Savidge, Washington Land Commissioner, reported receipts of $350,709.

Nevada Sells Lands
The Secretary of State Lands for Utah reported receipts of $48,445; C. M. Cox, Wyoming Land Commissioner, reported receipts of $241,622 for rentals, $212,506 from sale of state lands and interest on funds due from sales $94,590.

"The State of Nevada does not lease state lands but sells them outright; 78 per cent of the area of the state is still in public domain," the report said.

"Oregon and California have sold practically all their state lands and the return from those that remain is inconsequential. There is still in many of the states from one to five times as much public land as that which has heretofore been given them and most of which they have sold."

Retain 190,000,000 Acres
The report said that in public land states there is still about 190,000,000 acres to which the government has retained title—four times as much as already has been ceded to them.

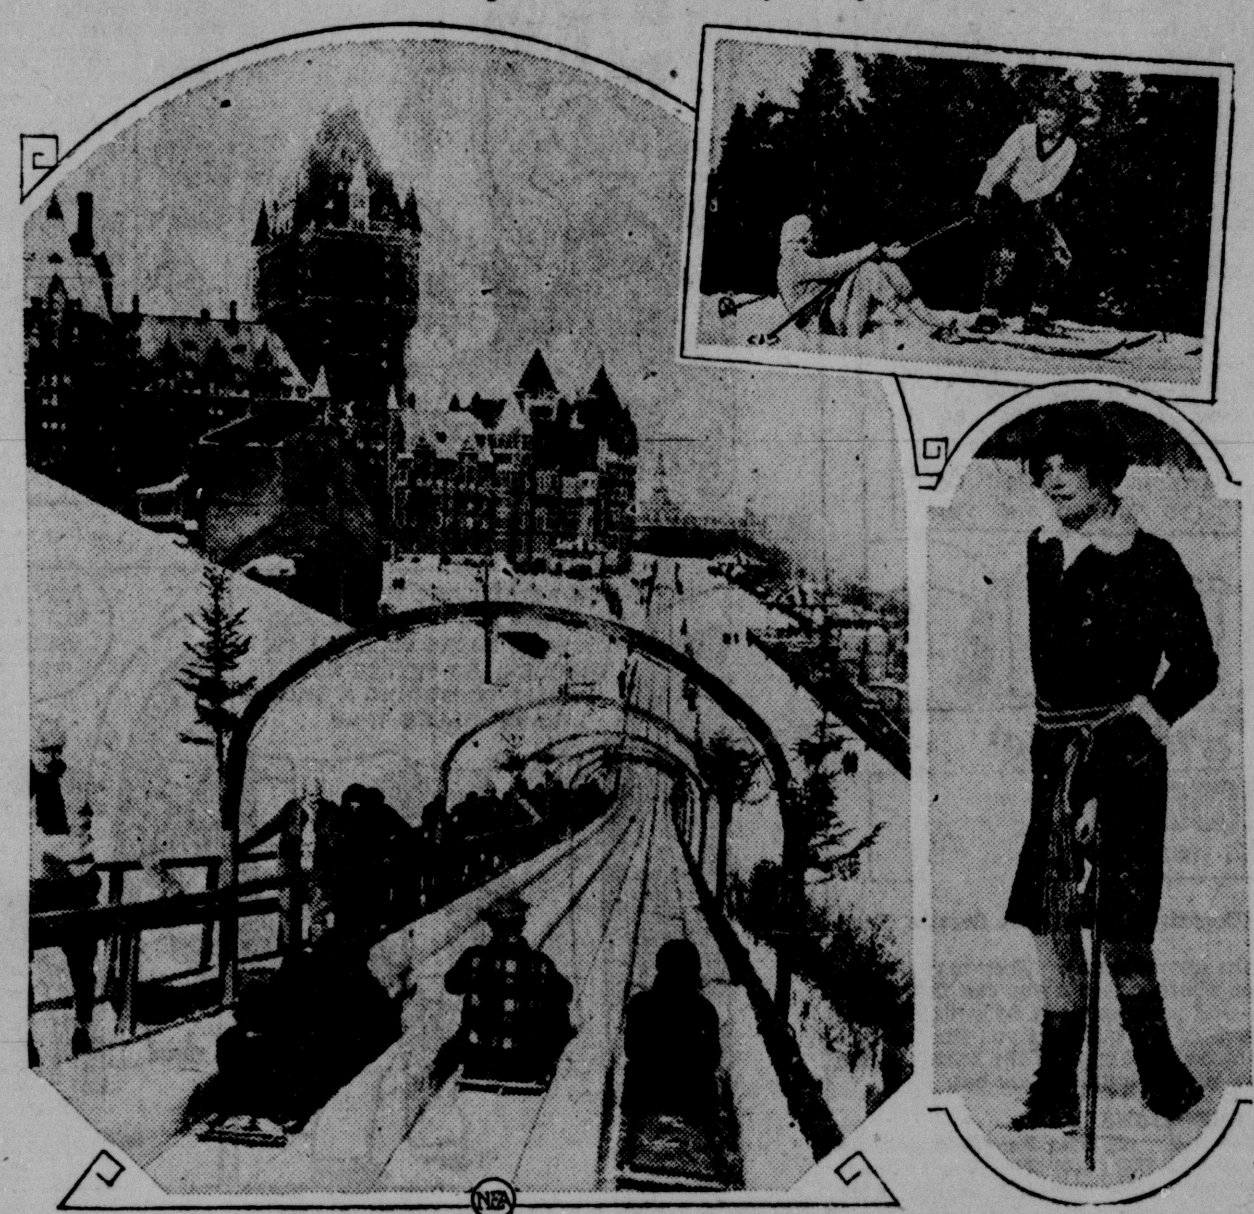

The figures by States of land already received and that which might be turned over to them are as follows: Arizona has received 8,000,000 acres and there are 16,000,000 acres of government land still in her borders; California has received 5,500,000 acres and might get 20,000,000 acres more. Colorado has received 3,700,000 and there are 8,000,000 more; Idaho 3,000,000 with 10,000,000 acres available; Montana 5,000,000 as against 7,000,000 yet available; Nevada 2,000,000 as against 53,000,000; New Mexico 4,400,000 as against 16,000,000; Oregon 3,400,000 as against 13,000,000; Utah 6,900,000 to 25,000,000; Washington 2,400,000 to 1,000,000; Wyoming 3,500,000 as against 17,000,000.

NOT SO SURE
"Tom," said Bill, "are the rest of the chaps out of the woods yet?"
"Yes."
"And are the six of them quite safe?"
"Yes."
"Then," said Bill, his chest swelling, "I've shot a deer."—Tit-Bits.

KING WINTER KICKS HEELS, MAKES WHOOPEE

Dog Team Driving, Tobogganing and Snowshoeing Hold Spotlight as Lovers of Winter Sports Make Merry at Quebec

These scenes were photographed as Old King Winter, he of the usually stern visage and icy demeanor, threw caution to the winds and cavorted in merry glee at the winter sports metropolis of Quebec. Lovers of outdoor sports—ski-jumping, skating, dog team driving and snowshoeing—joined in the fun. Above is one of the novice ski fans being "rescued" when her first attempt ended disastrously. At the left you see the famous toboggan slide, and at the right is a fair snowshoe devotee ready for her morning exercise. An added attraction this season is an ice-dance known as "Danse Moderne," a veritable Ziegfeld production on ice.

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it. Tomorrow we'll explain the mistakes and tell you the word. Then you can see how near a hundred you bat.

TUESDAY'S CORRECTIONS

School Board In Chicago Has Budget

Chicago, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Despite its depleted treasury, the Board of Education early today passed a budget totaling $101,786,408—the largest in the history of Chicago schools.

Included in this amount is approximately ten million dollars in liabilities incurred in 1929 and unpaid to date. The remainder, $91,786,237, is more than five million dollars above last year's budget.

The board made no attempt to keep the budget within the revenue, the members taking the position that they would rather close the schools entirely than curtail activities.

The members said they fully realized the danger of a shortage and they depended upon the citizens, bankers and legislature to prevent closing of the schools should that event become a necessity.

Rash Romance

© 1930 by NEA Service Inc. by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

After a whirlwind courtship, JUDITH CAMERON, typist in a New York publishing office, marries ARTHUR KNIGHT, executive of the firm. Knight is a widower, father of two children. TONY, his 13-year-old daughter, is in Europe, and JUNIOR, 10, is attending school.

Judith has no intimate friends, though on several occasions she had kept mysterious appointments with a young man named DAN. Judith and Arthur sail for a honeymoon in Bermuda. The first week is a whirlwind. Then comes a telegram in which Tony announces she is sailing for home. Knight says he and Judith must return to meet Tony's boat. Since neither of Knight's children has been told about the marriage, Judith is skeptical of her welcome.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XII

ARTHUR KNIGHT followed his daughter up the steps. His eyes met Judith's wide, startled gaze.

"Never mind, Honey," he said softly, touching her arm. "She's just—well, it was sort of a shock I guess. There, there! Everything's going to be all right!"

The man looked distressed. He and Judith went into the house. Tony was not in sight.

Mrs. Wheeler stood in the hallway. She was staring up toward the staircase but when she heard them she turned. Her honest eyes showed plainly she knew something was wrong.

"Miss Tony went right up to her room, sir," she said to Knight. "Didn't even—didn't even speak to me!"

Judith and Arthur Knight exchanged glances. The girl was first to speak.

"Haven't you better go up to her?" she asked in a colorless voice.

Knight looked at his wife. Did she really mean it? He was not accustomed to dealing with hysterical females. And how hysterically Tony had lashed against her stepmother during the drive! Tony had always had a temper. He had seen mimic tantrums ever since the youngster was four years old. But nothing like this!

She was upstairs now—alone and doubtless in tears. Impulse told Knight to rush up those stairs, kiss his pretty daughter, tell her things were all a mistake and coax her into smiling.

But here stood Judith, his wife. Was it to be Tony now or Judith? "Haven't you better go upstairs to her?" Judith Knight was repeating.

Of course that was the thing he must do. Gratefully he answered Judith with a glance.

"Yes, I'll go up," he said and mounted the stairs.

MRS. WHEELER came nearer to the girl.

"What in the world—" she asked in a stage whisper. "What's happened?"

"Miss Tony—Isn't feeling well," Judith tried to make the explanation sound plausible. "It was the trip, I think. Her father will let you know if she wants anything."

"But I've known the child since she was that night!" the woman spoke indignantly. "And not a word to me! She just sailed past with her head up in the air as though she was seeing ghosts!"

"If Miss Knight wants anything, she said a second time over her shoulder, 'her father will let you know.'"

"What in the world—" she asked in a stage whisper. "What's happened?"

"What in the world—" she asked in a stage whisper. "What's happened?"

"Miss Tony—Isn't feeling well," Judith tried to make the explanation sound plausible. "It was the trip, I think. Her father will let you know if she wants anything."

"But I've known the child since she was that night!" the woman spoke indignantly. "And not a word to me! She just sailed past with her head up in the air as though she was seeing ghosts!"

"If Miss Knight wants anything, she said a second time over her shoulder, 'her father will let you know.'"

"What in the world—" she asked in a stage whisper. "What's happened?"

It was close to 10 o'clock when Arthur Knight went upstairs and knocked at Tony's bedroom door. It was two hours later when he came down again.

All that time Judith had waited in the living room. The first real menace to her happiness with Arthur Knight had arrived and Judith was waiting for judgment. She was aware Arthur had spoiled his daughter hitherto. What would he do now?

She sat on the divan where last night she and Arthur had watched the twilight so happily. There was a fire burning on the grate now. The flames were leaping merrily, but Judith did not even remember last night. As a matter of fact her hands were cold.

At last she heard his footsteps. Knight came down the staircase slowly. It must have been an ordeal. Judith remained where she sat, and Arthur came into the living room.

"Arthur—is she going to—be all right?" The girl had sprung to her feet. Her face was white and tense. Knight paused before the hearth.

"Oh, yes," he said. "Tony's going to be all right. I told Mrs. Wheeler to send up a tray. She'll probably want to stay in her room a little longer."

He took Judith's hand, drew her down beside him on the davenport. "You mustn't think too hard of Tony because of this morning," he went on, evidently feeling for words carefully. "The child has always been high strung. I suppose we've humored her. Of course I should have written Tony about our marriage right from the first. That was my mistake and I realize it. I'm going to get a letter off this afternoon to Junior—"

"But, Arthur," she persisted, "does she understand now? Is Tony going to be—friendly?"

She too was careful of the words she chose.

Knight patted her arm and smiled reassuringly. "Every thing is going to be all right, Judith, I promise you. We'll just have to give Tony a little time to come to her senses, that's all."

"Remember," he added, "it never does to try to force the child! She'll come around all right in her own time. Her mother (it was the first direct reference he ever had made to his first wife) was always careful never to use force with Tony. It makes her stubborn."

FORMER DIXON DRUG CLERK IS GAINING MARK

Albert Ankeny Wins Success As Horticulturist

Since its inception, 'way back when John Dixon settled here in the early part of the nineteenth century, Dixon has given its share of new Americans to the nation; boys and girls who first saw light of day here, or early in life migrated to the Hub city with their parents to acquire their early training and to await an opportunity for them to set their mark in the world outside.

Time and tide cease to release their tenacles on any human. Dixon's own differed in not a single respect from any other section. Her children had a niche in the world to fill; some were privileged to remain in their native field while the balance were to be swallowed into the insatiable swirl of humanity beyond the home town gates.

There is a countless number of Dixon's children who set their sails for foreign ports; those who would aspire to attain the goal of the star to which they had tied their prideful little wagon; those who knew the world would provide them with a glorious living once they set out to find it. The home town wanted to keep them all, of course it was the most delightful place on the universe in which to live, but it released them unselfishly that they might benefit in the atmosphere of science, art and letters for which they aspired.

The fame and success of many of Dixon's own children has been spread to the four corners. Dixon was to come into its own for her gifts to mankind. The world was not soon to forget her.

And now the acclaim of another Dixonite reaches the home port. The notes this time are sung for Albert A. Ankeny.

Many of The Telegraph's readers will remember "Al" Ankeny, the drug clerk at Tilson drug store on Galena Ave. It's been twenty long years since Al was there, but time since then has not escaped without its reward to this local chap.

Ankeny left here as a matured fellow back in 1909. His steps took him to Davenport, Iowa, where he was to become associated in the business of raising the then termed "lowly cucumber" on a modern business scale.

He ventured seriously into this vocation aligned with the Davis Gardens at that place and under his direct management has risen with the years to become the largest plant in the production of cucumbers in the world. Ankeny spent seventeen years with the Davis organization. Devoting such zealous work to this business he was soon to rise to the position of general manager. A title he held until two years ago when he resigned for a much needed vacation.

Ankeny spent more than a year in the south land especially in Florida where he studied vegetable plant life, horticulture and market gardening and the modernizing production of such for a big business scale.

One year ago, Ankeny came back in the neighborhood of his boyhood days and acquiring a valuable site at Rochelle began the building of what will in the very near future be the largest single plant unit for the growing and production of cucumbers in the country. Even today he has succeeded in constructing more than seven greenhouses, each containing three individual units and covering more than six acres of space. Practically all of these houses under this huge mass of sparkling white-washed glass contain the growing plants of the humble cucumber.

To quote Al Ankeny in an interview with The Telegraph today: "All this is but the nucleus of what I hope to have in the near future. My heart and soul is in this business—it should be. I've followed it with hardly a single interruption for nearly twenty years. Cucumbers are as much a delicacy today as frog legs. It will be but a short time before the Ankeny plant will be raising them on such a large scale as to place them on the dinner tables of the country throughout the year. And it may interest you to know the wholesale price for a single cucumber is worth almost as much as your fatty meat bill. O, it's a great business and I'd like very much to have very one of my Dixon friends to visit Mrs. Ankeny and me at Rochelle and allow us the privilege of showing you our immense plant that is gradually culminating into the realization of my own little dream." And so it goes, they come and go, Dixon's boys and girls. But we don't ever forget them, and neither do they. Dixon may well take pride in her children.

Here is John D. Rockefeller's latest picture, taken at the multi-millionaire oil magnate's winter home at Ormond Beach, Fla., as he penned a letter congratulating the Standard Oil Co. on its 60th anniversary recently. He was unable to go to Cleveland, O., for the ceremonies, but spoke to business leaders assembled there by means of a talking motion picture.

Few people realize the tremendous significance of the habit of putting the hands to the mouth. Yet probably no other habit plays so significant a part in the health of a people. It is not only unclean, but it one of the most common factors in transferring and spreading diseases processes, both of the acute type, like diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, and of the chronic type, such as Bright's disease, heart disease, and rheumatism.

But take note of the number of times the hands go to the face and mouth. There are the very common practices of picking the nose, of rubbing the face and lips, or of biting the finger-nails. In addition eating with hands which have been soiled by handling many things, or eating uncooked fruits which have been handled by many, are illustrative of the possibilities of carrying infections to the mouth.

The hand is the most prolific germ catcher we possess—its contacts are innumerable. Most of the objects we approach are touched by the hand, and who knows what infectious germs may not be gotten in this manner. For example, there is the reprehensible and rather dirty habit of sneezing or coughing into one's hand, the result of which is that a very considerable number of germs are deposited on the hand and will be given to others by hand-shaking, or will be left on door-knobs and commonly handled things where others can acquire them.

While an epidemic of diphtheria ran its course in a base hospital in France during the late war, smears were taken daily from the throats

Hiker's Tale Of His Seeing Burke in West

Centralia, Wash., Jan. 14—(UP)—A young hitch-hiker's flair for drama and notoriety, caused police of a dozen cities to turn out in a wide hunt for "Fred Burke", middle western gangster who is wanted as a St. Valentine's Day massacre suspect. The vigil, reminiscent of the watch set for William Edward Hickman, occurred along the roads leading from Portland, Ore., to Vancouver, B. C., on the word of Ora Love, a hitch hiker who told that he thought Burke was fleeing toward Canada in a blue sedan. Love even identified a picture of Burke as that of a man he had chauffeured across the country. The police posted their guard but returned to find several discrepancies in the youth's story and he was held for further investigation.
